

Strategy Advice

Defining a practical strategy for technical data is a complex and challenging necessity. Using experienced consultants that have advised major oil companies across the globe is an invaluable aid in improving technical data. This can be achieved, for example, by building a working Data Governance initiative or refining data handling standards. Successful Exploration and Production activities depend on having high quality data. The staff of many oil companies will often suspect that the data they have is not trustworthy or well audited, these concerns often arise from the way data is governed and handled and how standards are enforced. The wide range of different technical specialists that employ each group of data within a typical oil company make this an area that requires experience and prior expertise.

Other Services

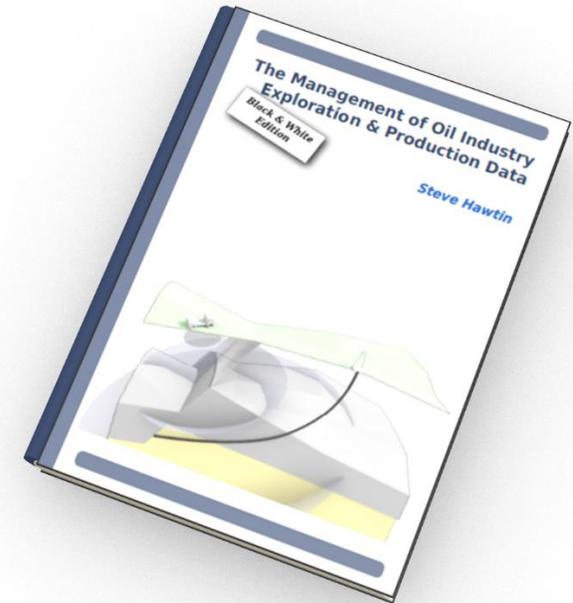

Technical data is an essential component of any project, whether you are designing a master development plan, negotiating a joint operations agreement, or bidding for licenses. White Turret can provide assistance to ensure that new projects have a realistic view of the data needed and the impact it will have.

More than a decade's experience assessing the information landscapes in large and small E&P companies allows us to quickly gather a realistic view of the complex paths that data follows. Our reports deliver both deep insights and actionable recommendations.

Using us as independent reviewers can ensure a pragmatic examination and highlight the aspects that could put your project at greatest risk. Our experience building working E&P systems can ensure your solutions will operate correctly, deliver the value you need and will be successfully adopted.

The Book

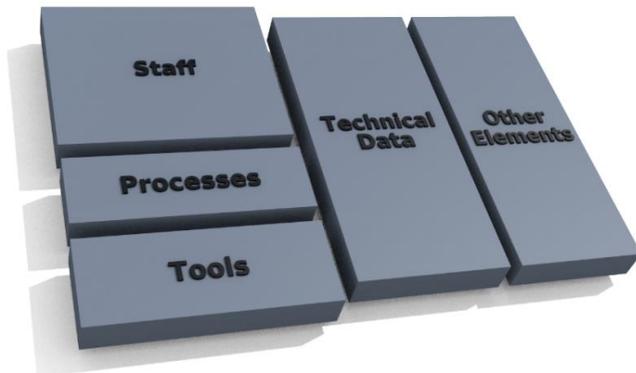

Steve Hawtin's book is available explaining best practices for handling oil industry technical data. Full details can be found at:

<http://dm4ep.com/>

The website above also holds additional, more recent, material and is the basis for many of the workshops, training courses and presentations that can be delivered either to public or more restricted groups. This material can help you to appreciate how to apply the latest thinking in: Project Management; Information Architecture; Solution Design; Programme Management; Change Management; Enterprise Architecture; Data Quality Frameworks; and Data Science.

White Turret Limited

Technical data has a significant impact on the success of all Exploration & Production companies. The way it is handled can either enhance or destroy business value. Our main focus is on improving the benefit that data delivers to Oil Companies, so we can quickly track down the interactions that are inhibiting data quality and recommend improvements that will profit any oil company.

We are happy to discuss the issues you have associated with the handling of data. We are able to provide consultation advice, workshops to explore data related issues, training courses to ensure your staff are aware of the latest advances and to provide on-site personnel to assist with projects or programmes that are already underway. Even in cases where our presence is not required we can provide assistance through our websites and book.

White Turret can help you improve the quality of your technical data

Who We Are

White Turret is based in the United Kingdom. We have delivered consultancy in the Middle East, North and South America, the Far East, Africa and many European locations.

Steven Hawtin
Managing Director

With more than 25 year's experience in the oil industry and the author of the book 'The Management of Exploration and Production Data', Steve Hawtin is the founder and key consultant for White Turret. As the Technical Director of Oilfield Systems he was responsible for products such as GeoScene and DAEX. While working for Schlumberger he created the techniques and tools they employed to document client's data flows. He has delivered data quality, data governance and solution implementation projects in more than 30 oil companies across the world.

Creative Business Consultancy

www.cbcoilandgas.com

Netherlands Office
CEO

+31 70 406 88 27
cbc@cbcoilandgas.com

Tehran Office
Business Development Director
+98 21 88 55 87 53
Info@cbcoilandgas.com

White Turret Limited

Experts in technical data handling for the oil industry

web: whiteturret.com
email: steve.hawtin@whiteturret.com mob: +44 (0) 7799 625476
tel: +44 (0) 1256 810759